Managed Service Client Success Story:

“We were fans of the ‘TRIA-way’ before we even commenced the supplier project. Their consultants are sector experts and recruiters, they are not salespeople. Clarks is approached regularly by large MSP and outsourced recruitment service providers offering generalist supplier management programmes that just happen to include IT and digital. TRIA’s proposition was different.

They proposed a solution that not only built upon the expertise and long-standing relationship developed by their account manager, but also recognised and enhanced the value of all of our existing supplier relationships. It was trust, more than anything, that led us to award them the managed service programme.
